

COPYRIGHTS and PERMISSIONS

The Brown Shoes Project is copyrighted under various copyrights:

TXu 845-901 "Histories of the Flying Midshipmen." (March 20, 1998), retitled "The Brown Shoes."

PAu – 248 – 601 "Once a Jock . . ." (December 15, 1997);

PAu-401-333 "Once a Jock . . . Always a Jock." (February 22, 1999).

Items not protected above are copyrighted under the current open copyright statutes. Articles or photographs protected under specific copyrights are noted.

We have requested permission to include all items. All items will be labeled "with permission," "permission requested," or "unable to locate copyright owner." Primary source items sent to the Project are implied to be contributed with permission. Items derived from the public domain—including U.S. Governmental sources—do not require permission.

These copyrights insure that included items are not taken for commercial gain without permission of the authors. Exceptions to these copyrights are those protected under prior copyrights, governmental and military works and photographs, and those specifically exempted by an author. All are so designated.

More information, including addresses for copyrighted and uncopyrighted items, releases, and permissions may be obtained from The Brown Shoes, avmidn@aol.com or P.O. Box 226, Earlysville, VA 22936.

Any corrections, additions, suggestions are earnestly requested. Any errors in copyrights or items included against the wishes of the author or copyright owner are inadvertent and will be corrected.

This project is under the aegis of UVa's §501(c)(3) and is not for commercial purposes. Any monetary contributions or royalties will be deposited in the UVa Alumni Fund--The Brown Shoes Fund.
